DECODING THE MYSTERY OF EXCELLENCE

Pst. Hero Udenyi

In the spirit of God's faithfulness, we welcome you to the month of June 2022. Our prayer is that the Lord God Almighty would bless you, keep you, and make His face shine upon you.

Whether you believe in the existence of the supernatural or not, the facts are too glaring to ignore. The supernatural realm is real and superior to the natural realm, and those who control it also control the natural. This edition of the magazine is a cap on the subject of the supernatural and evidence that demands a verdict. Seasoned articles as penned down by our writers make a strong case for the existence of the supernatural. They bring light to some grey areas on the subject of the supernatural with simplicity. We've not left out the testimonies of real people in the testimony column, which I would say is my favourite. It is our pleasure to invite you to take some time to read through and ponder over the information in this magazine. We believe it would improve your perception of the reality around you. Please do send us some feedback. May the blessings of God continually remain with you.

The Supernatural Facts and Verdict

...man is constantly exploring interplanetary life, investigating the possible existence of other civilisations, and considering the expansion of the human race into those planets because he has the capacity for interdimensional or multi-dimensional existence.

“The supernatural is real, and we live with it daily yet unconsciously.” - Prophet Richard Amoaye.

“The supernatural is the natural not yet understood” - Elbert Hubbard.

“The supernatural birth of Christ, His Miracles, His resurrection, and ascension remain eternal truths, whatever doubts may be cast on their reality as historical facts” - David Friederich Strauss

Our past few editions of the Prophetic Voice Magazine have revolved around the subject of the supernatural. And yet we have not been able to explore the vast expanse of the supernatural. In those previous editions, it was posited that man has the capacity for interdimensional or multi-dimensional existence. This is not just spiritual curiosity but also a matter of scientific interest. This is why man is constantly exploring interplanetary life, investigating the possible existence of other civilisations, and considering the expansion of the human race into those planets. Science has achieved a lot, but without the consent and the approval of the patent owner, who is none other than God Himself, all scientific efforts would amount to an exercise in futility.

The Quest For a Verdict

The supernatural subject is very divisive, controversial, and inexhaustible because of its depth and versatility. From time immemorial, science has been curious about the supernatural. There has been tremendous focus on realities beyond time, space, and matter, but outstanding breakthroughs remain evasive. The primary reason is attributed to the fact that science has not been able to subject the supernatural to a conclusive empirical process.

Like Oliver Heaviside (1850 - 1925), a mathematician and physicist who tried to use mathematical operators that were not yet clearly defined by the mathematics community at the time, said, "Shall I refuse my dinner because I do not fully understand the process of digestion"?

Shall we throw out the evidence of the supernatural because there is no verdict of the scientific justice system designed under human limitations? No matter how much we try to obliterate the obvious, it is still a fact of history that there is no civilisation, including the modern western society, that is not rooted in the supernatural. Our thought is that the natural, at best, is proof of the supernatural.

“By faith, we understand that the universe was formed at God’s command so that what is seen was not made out of what was visible.” - (Heb.11:3)

The world is hell-bent on distorting the truth about God’s existence. It has progressively and deliberately locked out any potent scientific findings on the supernatural that could confirm God’s existence. With this singular attitude and approach, man has lost the means that grants access to resources meant to improve and sustain human civilisation.

Christianity is firmly rooted in the supernatural. The birth of Jesus Christ, healing the sick with spoken words, turning water into wine without the brewing process, walking on water, death and resurrection after three days, and the final ascension of Jesus Christ are all alien to the scientific world. There is neither a logical explanation nor a set of principles to which they conform. These unexplainable feats are facts of history and the basis of Christianity. Does that set religion against science? Or better still, should that put science against religion? The answer to these questions is NO.

Once upon a time, Albert Einstein talked about the relationship between religion and science, supporting the fact that science should not be devoid of religion. He said, “Science without religion is lame, and religion without science is blind”.

The Convergence

Many examples prove that science and religion agree. The universe was made out of invisible particles that cannot be seen.

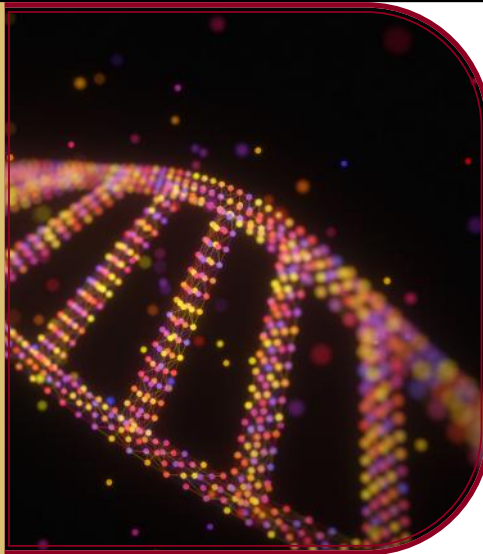

“By faith, we understand that the universe was formed at God’s command so that what is seen was not made out of what was visible.” (Heb.11:3)

Science also confirms that life and matter are generally composed of invisible particles like atoms. Protons, neutrons, and electrons are all invisible to the natural eye. This is critical because it is an admission that the supernatural, in other words, the unseen realm, “Science agrees that life and matter are generally composed of invisible particles like atoms. Protons, neutrons, and electrons are all invisible to the natural eye. exists, and it is where the raw materials for the creation of the seen world were taken from.

Revelation, which streams from imagination, meditations, contemplations, or focused thinking, forms the basis of knowledge and discovery.

“And now nothing will be restrained from them, which they have imagined to do”. (Genesis 11:6).

In the words of Albert Einstein, “Imagination is more important than knowledge because actual knowledge comes through imagination". Christianity teaches us to yield our spirit in submission to the spirit of God in such a manner that the spirit of God would communicate to our spirit eternal sacred knowledge hidden in the supernatural, giving us an advantage over the issues of life (Joshua 1:8).

Such knowledge brings us to the level where we could become liberated from the natural forces of life and take control. This is why the whole of creation groans (Romans 8:22). Until humanity takes control of the supernatural, humanity will still be subject to nature. The supernatural realm is as real as the natural realm, and there are loads of evidence that they co-exist and operate together. There is abundant scientific evidence of other existence beyond the earth realm. There is also plentiful evidence in almost all religious knowledge of the existence of the supernatural realm.

The Reality Of The Two

The natural realm, which is the realm of things, space, and matter, exists side by side with the supernatural realm, which is the realm of spirit and fluidity. While the natural realm is a realm of a fixed time, space and matter, the realm of the supernatural is unlimited, where anything and everything is possible. The physical eyes can see the natural realm, but the supernatural realm can only be seen by our spiritual eyes of faith. Therefore, our inability to visualise the supernatural with our physical eyes does not mean it doesn't exist.

In the story of Elisha, to his servant and the army of Syria, Elisha demonstrated how the supernatural world can be deployed in the natural world to one's advantage.

"And when the servant of the man of God was risen early, and gone forth, behold, a host compassed the city both with horses and chariots. And his servant said unto him, Alas, my master! What shall we do? And he answered, Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them. And Elisha prayed and said, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha. And when they came down to him, Elisha prayed unto the Lord, saying, smite these people, I pray thee, with blindness. And he smote them with blindness according to the word of Elisha." (2 Kings 6:13-18)

Prophet Elisha healed the sick, raised the dead, caused iron to float on the water, and conducted espionage for his country by engaging the supernatural. And here again, in the story cited above, Elisha was surrounded by the army of the most powerful nation then. The servant was afraid, but Elisha knew what the servant did not know; that he was in the natural realm but had the presence of supernatural beings all around him, which gave him an advantage. He asked God to open the eyes of the servant so he, too, could be encouraged by the presence of supernatural beings. And when the servant's eyes were opened, he saw millions of angels on horses prepared for war.

The Supernatural

The Facts and the Verdict

1. The natural eyes cannot see the supernatural.
2. The Prophet was helping Israel with strategic military information by supernatural means.
3. The army of Syria was disarmed within the parameter of the presence of the Prophet. They became blind, confused, and demobilised.
4. The army of Syria could not perform the assignment for which they came.
5. They were led into the Palace of the King of Israel, and the Prophet gave orders for them to be fed and freed.

The blindness that came upon the army of Syria was not ordinary, but a blindness that affected their minds and senses in such a manner that they were confused concerning the mission. Not just that, but the fact that one man, assisted by the supernatural, was able to disarm the most powerful army of the time and turn them into prisoners of war, is beyond belief.

The blindness that came upon the army of Syria was not ordinary, but a blindness that affected their minds and senses in such a manner that they were confused concerning the mission... ”

There are other outstanding records of ordinary contemporary people sighting and encountering the supernatural.

In her memoir, the Shadow of a Badge, a retired FBI agent, Lillie Leonardi, recorded a story on how she arrived at the crash site of flight 93 on the 9/11/2001 in Pennsylvania and was shocked to find what she reckoned were angels, but definitely supernatural beings, standing watch over the wreckage.

In another instance, Bruce Van Natta gave an account in the program "It's Supernatural" hosted by Sid Roth of how the axle of a 10,000-pound truck he was working under slipped off the jack and crushed him, but two angels saved him.

Prophet Richard Amoaye had an encounter while in Germany for the first time. He had missed his way, and while he was contemplating what next to do, he came across an elderly man. After exchanging pleasantries, the man gave him the directions he needed. Then he turned to thank the man, but the man was nowhere to be found. Immediately, he reckoned that it must be an angel sent to assist him.

The Supernatural

"God is the creator, and He alone can grant genuine access to the supernatural through His Son, Jesus Christ."

About 84% of the world's population is affiliated with one religion or the other and therefore believes in the supernatural. More than a substantial number of the remaining non-religious people, including scientists, may not necessarily believe in God, but they believe in the supernatural. Can the finite minority be right, and the larger majority be wrong with these facts?

The evidence for the existence of the supernatural is too compelling to ignore. There must be something out there, and it is evident that we are all part of it but perhaps separate from it.

C O N C L U S I O N

As humans, we are inter-dimensional and also extra-dimensional. The capacity is there but only ignited by the spirit because it is a spiritual realm. The supernatural will always have an edge over the natural realm.

Based on the abundance of real and documentary evidence, the reasonable conclusion is that the supernatural is real, and whether we know it or not, that reality affects us all. God is the creator, and He alone can grant genuine access to the supernatural through His Son, Jesus Christ.

Real People Real

I give this testimony on behalf of my family and to the glory of God to end that people will know that with God, all and anything is possible. God has helped us as a family through the ministry of Prophet Richard Amoaye in so many different ways. Some I have testified, and many others I have not publicly testified. However, I would want to briefly testify of a few ways God did the miraculous during the recently concluded Adelaide Inspiring Greatness Conference.

BY THE NKETIA BOAKYE FAMILY

My name is Michael, and I am a member of the Inspiring Greatness Team, and I live in Adelaide with my family. When the conference was scheduled, we knew we had a lot of work to do, being that we were the ones on the ground in Adelaide. We have always believed in being passionate in everything we do, especially when it has to do with God and His servants. So, when the Adelaide conference was coming up, we were ready to give it our best shots in all areas knowing that any service we render would be to the glory of God, and God has always surprised us.

Apart from other conference logistics, we were ready to do anything to make sure the Prophet of God and all the other ministers that would come with him had a very comfortable stay in Adelaide. We secured the vehicles for all the others and went further to pay for a car that our father would use when he arrived in Adelaide. We found one from the rentals and paid for it. However, on the day our father was supposed to come, I went to pick up the car we booked for him only to be told the car we booked was not available and instead offered us another higher-grade vehicle, a brand new 2022 BMW top of the range. To me, this was a miracle in itself because, knowing the humility of our father, we were a bit moderate with our first choice, but we were left with no option but to go for the best that was offered. So, we took the offer and used it throughout the conference until our father left Adelaide.

After our father, Prophet Richard Amoaye left Adelaide for Sydney, I went and dropped off the car. Still, to my greatest surprise, when I checked my account, I discovered that all the money paid for the rental had been credited back to my account. I know there is miracle money, and I have heard of it, but I have never experienced it. So, I do not know whether to call this miracle money. But whatever you may decide to call it, this is truly a miracle to attest that God is indeed a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him and serve Him. And not just that, but ever since the conference, my family and the Adelaide team have been visited by God's faithfulness in diverse areas of life, and we give God praise. Amen.

A Conversation with pre-teens about the supernatural

At the start of each New Year one of the exciting sessions we hold as part of our mentoring program for girls aged 11-15 is the welcome session. There are 3 key things we aim to achieve in this first meeting, first to get to know new people and say farewell to anyone moving into the youth group. Second, we talk about setting goals for the year and encourage the girls to do so for several aspects of their lives – faith journey, school, friendship and family. We also encourage them to set a stretch goal i.e., learn something new by taking up a new hobby or volunteering. The third and final goal of the session is to unpack the theme of the year (2022 is “The year of the Supernatural”) and what it means for each of us. It is this latter part of the session I’d like to share some reflections about in this article.

In our first session, one of the key questions I asked the girls was, “What does the supernatural mean to you and your faith journey?” There was silence. Now, this session was on zoom and if you are familiar with the world of virtual calls, 30 seconds or more of silence feels like a lifetime, especially when there are many people signed in and no one except you has their camera on! My first thought was that perhaps I was on mute. Having determined that it was not the case I wondered if perhaps my screen was frozen. The truth is, I was in slight panic because I had been nervous about the session as I too had many questions about “The year of the Supernatural theme”.

After a few more breaths and what felt like a second lifetime passing over this zoom call, I finally thought that perhaps the question was not as straightforward as I had assumed. So, I tracked back and asked a simpler question, “Do you understand what the word supernatural means?” This time around, there was an immediate response with one person piping up to share that they understood the meaning of “supernatural”. As if the mentee could read my mind, she went on to share that she had been silent because she had been processing the first question. She admitted that she had struggled to connect the theme to her personal faith journey, and she was wondering about two things. The first was whether she could confidently claim to have ever had a supernatural encounter and the second thing she was contemplating were the implications this theme would have on her year.

In response to her openness, I also shared with the group that I too had struggled to understand and make sense of what this meant for my faith journey in 2022. It was only after we both opened up that the other girls spoke too. So, we began to unpack the thoughts, reflections and observations that were being shared. It became clear that when they thought about the supernatural, part of expectation was for the lightning thunder moments. There was some expectation of angelic encounters where rays of sunshine appear, or some audible heavenly voice is heard in a similar fashion to

their and

in his role the movie Bruce

We quickly realised the first session was not long enough for us to cover some of the things that were popping up in our conversation, so we set time aside for a follow up session. It was through this session and preparing for it that I too came to some helpful realisations about what the supernatural is all about and how to make this year’s theme practical. In the session, we reflected on the fact that to live a supernatural life means to live with a consciousness of the spirit realm, noting there are all kinds of spirits and the importance of being connected to the right spirit i.e., God.

To live supernaturally is to live with the word of God and prayer at the centre. It is about embodying the a friend and feeling like praying for them and going ahead to do so, the sudden urge to change your route to a place, moments of creativity and inspiration, or a song of worship or praise popping up as you go about your day or when you awake or go to sleep. We may not understand, and it may not make sense, but the reality is there is a supernatural aspect to what we see, say and do. The key question then becomes which side or aspect of the supernatural is dictating our moves - the Godly side or the enemy's side.

Reflecting on our mentoring session I realised that we often think that we have grasped and understood certain things, but the reality may be different. So, if you want to know how well you grasp and understand something, I challenge you to explain it to a pre-teen, youth or someone new to the faith, and to do so using simple terminology! Finally, it dawned on me that it is easy to be consumed with unpacking and understanding the spiritual journey for self and assume that others get it, especially the youth and new believers. However, our walk and engagement with the word should propel us to help others along in their growth as believers.

So, in wrapping up I'd like to remind you to always be on the lookout for the young and those growing in their faith. As you go about your days, always ask yourself, who God has placed in your sphere of influence, where they are in their faith journey, and how you too can be of service to them. For the parents, do check in regularly with your children and take time to have the deep conversations. Create a safe space for the conversations and be sure to ask probing questions that create opportunities for you to speak into the lives of your young ones. You may not have all the answers, but rest assured you know where to point them to. I daresay, through our engagement with others, we too will have supernatural encounters!

word, meaning it is about breaking down the word to make it practical and live it out. It is about allowing our minds to be transformed by God, then, choosing to become vehicles that express the unconditional love of God. I shared with the mentees that when we read the bible, we often gloss over the "normal" experiences of people because we've come to think about the extraordinary encounters as carrying more weight e.g., the desert experience of the Israelites, Mary the mother of Jesus, Elisha, the times of Jesus etc. However, there are many people who lived with an understanding of the supernatural and had supernatural encounters, people like Joseph, the prophetess Anna whose life was dedicated to prayer, Mordercai, Rhoda the servant girl, Jethro who had the wisdom to advise Moses, some of the valiant men that were in David's army and Tabitha to mention a few. They are people who encountered God through the everyday - through dreams, through service, attentiveness and living intentionally and it was through this that they were instrumental to the manifestation of God's promise.

We spoke about how some of their encounters are no different to our modern times. For example, supernatural encounters that happen through dreams, visions, impressions or the word of God coming alive while we are completing certain tasks or speaking to people. There are also other experiences, like waking up and having the urge to treat your family to breakfast, completing a task or chore but doing so excellently, remembering
