We welcome you to September, a bridge into the last quarter of the year. It is incredible how fast the year has run its course and a reminder of how quickly our days go by. We appreciate you all and thank you for the encouragement through your affiliation with the Prophetic Voice Magazine. May God enlighten your paths through His word, as this magazine shares

As the days go by and we see and hear what is going on in the world today, we become more convinced that the Prophetic remains one of the most potent weapons God uses to give everyone an advantage over life issues through advanced spiritual intelligence.

In this edition, the focus is on Prophets. The substantive perspective is based on the teachings of Prophet Richard Amoaye. The substantive advances an argument on who is a prophet, the making of a prophet and the duty of a prophet. Though not comprehensive yet, a synoptic conclusion on the prophet's relevance to God's current agenda in this dispensation. You will also find other articles woven around the prophetic, Prophecy and the prophets.

The real people, real testimonies segment is always my favourite as it gives us the practical demonstration and shows the relevance of the prophetic to our daily experience. Make sure you read this and be encouraged about how the prophetic tackled issues of their life by giving them advantage over adversities.

We pray that as you read, God will open your eyes to see and know the truth so that you will be free indeed.

God richly bless you.

Myths Or Moments

I've come to understand that prophecy is a mode of communication between God and man. The prophet is a messenger of God and the prophecy the message from God.

The Prophets

By Pastor Hero Udenyi

“A prophet must bring you back in alignment with God’s will so the seed of greatness in you can be provoked into manifestation by God’s power into a Godly and fulfilled life.”

- Prophet Richard Amoaye. ”

“A Prophet - he stands beside you and points the way to the Saviour” - Neil L. Anderson

“A true prophet helps define the dreams of others. He is not diminished as they become more. He offers courage in one hand and generosity in the other.” - Mary Doria Russell.

INTRODUCTION

“Surely the Sovereign Lord does nothing without revealing his plan to his servants

the prophets” (Amos 3:7). There are principalities in the Christian faith who want to drag us into the debate of whether or not God still uses prophets in our times. The Bible is explicit on this subject, as God has not stopped revealing His counsel to His servants because He is still doing things.

In our previous editions of The Prophetic Voice Magazine, we established abundant evidence of the relevance of the prophetic generally and of the prophets. In (Ephesians 4:11-112) “And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ”. We passionately believe that the five offices listed above are still relevant today for equipping the Body of Christ and the work of ministry. In these end times, we must hear from God for the church, our nations, and our communities. God communicates His particular messages through prophets.

WHO IS A PROPHET?

According to prophet Richard Amoaye, Prophets are called by God and filled with God’s Spirit to speak God’s word to people who God has chosen to give directions by His words. A prophet could simultaneously be a teacher, a preacher, and a pastor. In the marketplace, prophets have an oversight and reconciliation role that is designed to align or realign people to the mind and heartbeat of God, that is, to do business ethically and in a manner that brings salvation, ministers God’s love and establishes kingdom based businesses and principles. Prophets are the GPS of the spirit that direct us on the way to salvation in every area of life.

According to him, the prophet is supposed to guide, teach, and preach to equip the children of God for life generally. He further posited that since the word of God started speaking, He has not stopped, but it takes our consciousness to capture what God is saying. A prophet is a Mandated person designed in the spirit to capture the vision of heaven and interpret it to the natural mind giving answers to a dialogue that has started since. A prophet must submit to God so that another spirit cannot take over. So, the prophets are designed to naturally capture the heartbeat of God and relay the same to the relevant quateres for the advancement of the will of God on the face of the earth. Simply put, a prophet is someone chosen by God to speak for God.

“Prophets are the GPS of the spirit that direct us on the way to salvation in every area of life.”

THE PROPHETS

“For prophecy never had its origin in the human will, but prophets, though human, spoke from God as they were carried along by the Holy Spirit” (2 Peter 1:21). According to prophet Richard Amoaye, prophets are representatives of heaven on earth. They are trained to receive and deliver to the people directions from God to give them an advantage over life issues. The prophet is an individual who has given themselves to hear from God. Their primary ministry is to reveal the heart of God and equip the Body of Christ.

THE MAKING OF A PROPHET

The prophetic anointing can be very inviting. It would be beautiful if everyone could hear from God for themselves, which is the desire of God for all His children, “My sheep hear

My voice.....” (John 10:27 -28). However, the duty of a prophet is far more than just hearing from God. We can all prophesy according to (1 Corinthians 14: 5) “I wish that all of you could speak in tongues, but I would rather have you prophesy”. But there are some whom God himself has set aside into the office of the prophet. The individual called into the office of the prophet is an individual whom God has authorised to speak on His behalf. Usually, these are given special prophetic authorisation over jurisdictions exhibiting prophetic oversight.

But to occupy the office of the Prophets, one must be called especially into the office. It is noteworthy that most people called into the prophet’s office are born prophets. This is evident in (Jeremiah 1:5) “I knew you before I formed you in your mother’s womb. Before you were born, I set you apart and appointed you as my prophet to the nations.” Some others are

...whether they were born, covenanted, or called into the prophetic ministry, they must all go through a preparation for that which they have been set aside by God to do. This is what is called the making of a prophet...

covenanted into the office as noted in (1 Samuel 1:27 - 28) "I prayed for this child, and the Lord has granted me what I asked of him. So now I give him to the Lord. He will be given over to the Lord for his whole life." Yet some were neither born prophets nor covenanted but are yet called into the prophetic office. However, whether they were born, covenanted, or called into the prophetic ministry, they must all go through a preparation for that which they have been set aside by God to do. This is what is called the making of a prophet.

Anointing oil is synonymous with the prophetic ministry and all the callings of the Holy Spirit. However, the olive that produces the oil must first be crushed in the press before producing the powerful oil for the anointing. Every prophet of God would tell you that the calling will always cost you something. They are often misunderstood, rejected, wounded, and, in many cases, betrayed, abandoned, and almost left for dead or even murdered for what they carry.

Richard Amoaye, teaching in the prophetic school, said it takes an average of fourteen years for a prophet to mature and emerge as a full prophet with jurisdictional authority. And the fourteen years are mostly years of trials and persecution designed to build character, commitment, obedience, and submission to the perfect will of God. Others could deal with the permissive will of God but not the one with the office of the prophet into whose heart God would commit His heartbeat for humanity. He must submit to the perfect will with understanding and maturity in spirit.

The will of a prophet is lost into the will and the heartbeat of God; they no longer exist but Christ who lives in them. Ezekiel, Hosea, and Joseph are examples of those who went through shame, disgrace, degradation, and disappointment but took everything in because of the anointing they carried. They were forced into a mould of submission and obedience just because they were called into the office of the prophet.

Apart from the general training one would through to be used by God; the prophet goes through more arduous training because of the sensitivity of the office and what it could attract. The making of a prophet is indeed not palatable but necessary for the anointing the prophet must carry to hear God's heartbeat.

DUTIES OF THE PROPHET

The prophet is part of the fivefold ministers. Equipping the saints is the primary responsibility of the Prophet and their work within the five-fold ministry ensures there is stability in the church and that the body of Christ works in harmony together. Prophets have insight, that is the ability to understand the root issues in situations, people's motivations, and God's inspiration. They also have foresight, that is, the ability to tell about the future, and they have oversight which is the ability to understand prophetic context, ecosystems, service roles and prospective. There is no one-stop description of the duties of a prophet. In addition to collaborating as part of the five fold ministry to equip the saints, their roles could include; restoring families, encouraging apostles to build the kingdom, judging prophetic words warning of coming natural disasters, protecting nations and peoples and developing prophetic culture that calls out people's destiny. In some instances, they may be instructed to communicate in various ways including writing. God could command a prophet to write what He God has shown as a record unto the people. "Then the LORD answered: "Write down this vision and inscribe it on tablets, so that he that hears may run with it." (Habakkuk 2:1 – 2).

The prophet could also be a preacher of the word of God as it is written. A prophet also has a teaching mandate where he amplifies the written word to make it clearer to the students or elucidate his visions or perceptions as received from God. Most of the time, the prophet uses the teaching and preaching method to forth-tell the word of God to the congregation or listeners. However, the prophet's most unique duty is to foretell God's will concerning a matter. This is the most practical way God could communicate His present continuous will, based on the established truth of the word. Based on the preceding, a prophet is also meant to foretell, predict, or unravel some unknown truth about a matter related to a person. The prophet's primary duty in the contemporary church is to enlighten the body of Christ on the present heartbeat of God, giving directions by instructions through teaching, preaching, and unravelling the mysteries that are sometimes behind the miseries of the children of God.

CONCLUSION

Suffice to say that the office of the prophet is still as potent in the contemporary work of God as it has ever been. Many in the New Testament were proclaimed prophets: (Matthew 11:9) "Then what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet." "There was also a prophet, Anna, the daughter of Penuel, of the tribe of Asher..." (Luke 2:36, 38), "... a prophet named Agabus came down from Judea" (Acts 21:10). We could go on and on to show that there were prophets in the New Testament times, just as they were in the Old Testament.

With all this evidence staring at our faces, we cannot but believe that the prophetic is still a potent weapon in the hands of God to deliver His people and establish them in His will. For this reason, the enemy would do everything possible to undermine the prophetic and the office of the prophet in contemporary Christianity. But the prophetic generally and the office of the prophet particularly, are indeed at the core of God's operations on the earth. "Believe in the LORD your God, and you shall be established; believe His prophets, and you shall prosper" (2 Chronicles 20:20).

And finally, "Surely the Sovereign Lord does nothing without revealing his plan to his servants the prophets" (Amos 3:7). God still speak today as He did yesteryears because as it was in the beginning, so it is now and ever shall it be, word without end. Amen!

Real Testimonies ✕

BY FELICIA OPPONG

May the Almighty God be forever exalted, In the past few months I have had the privilege of sitting under the ministry of Prophet Richard Amoaye. The Prophet never imposed himself as my spiritual father, all he did was to show the same level of concern and care as he would to any new member of his church (God's Power Ministries). From this time on, Prophet Richard gained my trust not only as a mentor, but also as my spiritual father (Papa). This process did not happen overnight, it was a journey.

Testimony One

I remember vividly in one of his prophetic ministrations, he had mentioned that God will give us what is due us. I received this prophetic declaration in faith and the result was unbelievable. A few weeks after this, I received a huge pay increment. It was simply mind blowing after being on a low pay grade for a very long time. Prior to this miracle, I had worked in different areas and roles in the health sector through nursing agencies and sometimes updating the number of hours which proved impractical. I had in the past attempted to correct this anomaly for more than three years but to no avail. After Prophet Richard's declarations, things began to change. The God of Prophet Amoaye made a way for reparations due me to be effected without any delays. Glory to our God. Not only did I experience at first hand, the faithfulness of our God through this miracle, but I also saw experience the Justice of God unfold.

J I R E H - Y O U A R E E N O U G H

Since this divine encounter, I have seen the hand of God manifest in various ways in my life. I have experienced God's favour attract destiny helpers to me in different situations (for example raising people to help me when I am in need, finding a place to live, buying furniture on credit without interest charges, and receiving my bond in full despite initial resistance). In all these instances, I believe God gave me what was rightfully due me. For these I will forever be grateful to God and His servant Prophet Richard Amoaye.

second testimony had to do with an online money transfer I made to a close family member of mine. It was my second experience of God's miraculous provision. To cut a long story short, I had transferred some funds over to my mother [overseas]. To the amazement of both of us, my mum withdrew almost twice the amount I transferred (even after the banks confirmed there were no discrepancies). It still amazes me how it all happened. but I believe it was a form of restoration, because I remember transferring money to my mum sometime back thorough the same agency which never got to her, apparently through some mysterious circumstances. Prophet Richard always tells us that one of the beautiful things about God is He rights past wrongs, He is the God of restoration.

The God of my Papa Prophet Richard Amoaye has also protected me in many instances, when the enemy (Devil) wanted to strike. I know God has not finished with me yet and He will continue to do more and more.

Exactly two years ago, workmates I thought were friends maligned me at work. They

I vividly remember Papa Amoaye one time during ministration prophetically calling me by my traditional name and I was completely caught off guard. He then proceeded to ask if there was anything I wanted the Lord to do for me? I immediately uttered a house. I almost second guessed myself thinking I should have said marriage instead but a voice of assurance in my spirit confirmed all will be provided according to the perfect will of God to his glory. I sowed a seed of faith sealing this spiritually and I have kept the faith knowing that God makes everything beautiful in its time.

I want to thank God for the life of my Papa Prophet Amoaye. He is 'the watchman' of my life. He is the man God has chosen to 'stand in the gap' for me and my family. I pray God will continue to use him for greater works in our generation. My prayer is that you also get to know the God of Prophet Richard, and that God inspires your heart to connect with Prophet Richard as 'the watchman' of your life so you can also share your testimony to inspire others. May God Richly Bless you.

said all manner of things to discredit my reputation as an effective worker. I ignored it the first time I heard it but after I realised they would not stop till I was fired, I took it to prayer and also consulted my spiritual father Prophet Richard Amoaye about it. God stepped in and their malicious deeds came to nought. Glory be to God; indeed, "His name is a strong tower, the righteous run unto it and they are saved".

3 Ways To Grow Your Understanding of the Prophetic Ministry

Growing up, faith, prayer and anything to do with God was a painful “chore”, on some days a bargaining chip and on other days it was a simple point of transaction. That is, going to church was something I’d have to do if I wanted to get a treat or gain something tangible in return. Prophecy, prophets and the prophetic were all foreign to me until my late teenage years. In fact, I cannot recall reading or learning much about this till high school which would be when I had my first encounter with people who had the gift of prophecy. I thought to myself, “there are people who can hear God? Say what now, how?” Unfortunately, having been exposed through culture to the world of warlocks, witches, wizards and everything in between, my approach and the lens through which I had encountered the prophetic was tainted. To me equated to some kind of “magic”. There was no understanding of what was myth vs what was a moment with God. Scepticism was high.

From birth, we are primed and trained to think a certain way and believe and act according to the dictates of men and women before us. Even when we accept Christ, the framework of faith that guides us in the everyday is often the flawed map of forebears. Don’t get me wrong, there are some great things we inherit, but often those can be a limitation because we are programmed to expect God to only act and move a certain way and do so within certain boundaries. We forget that He is the God of all

I’ve come to understand that prophecy is a mode of communication between God and man. The prophet is a messenger of God and the prophecy the message from God.

The one who can prophesy, a vessel through whom God can work.

Note, we all have the ability to prophesy, and

I’ve had, I would like to share 3 key things I hope can be of help in your own journey and understanding of the prophetic ministry. These are:

From birth, we are primed and trained to act according to the dictates of

1. Invest in learning from the source for yourself.

There are a lot of people with much to say about the prophetic ministry when they, themselves are not consistent believers, let alone students of the word.

My advice is that you get off the lazy lane and commit to searching, seeking and learning firsthand. Simply put, dig into the word for yourself.

Go on a discovery journey to understand how God communicated with man after the fall of Adam. When you do, make sure you are not selective. Read from both Old Testament and New Testament and in doing so, ask God to give you insight and understanding.

2. Invest in additional resources

Committing to learning means you also invest in additional resources like books and study guides from credible teachers especially those who have been entrusted with the gift or those called into the office of a prophet! There really is a difference between one who can prophesy, and one called to be a prophet.

This here is my shameless plug for the Prophetic School which is where I learnt a lot more about differences and nuances that not only trip many of us up, but in some instances cause us to both knowingly and unknowingly reject God, His counsel and in some instances quench the spirit and despise prophecies. When we don't invest in learning and searching beyond what we are told or think we understand, the likelihood of ending up as walking contradictions is high. That is, we call on God and pray that He responds, not knowing that our conduct and behaviour may in fact be rejecting his response and extension of love, grace, mercy and direction!

3. Check your motives!

This part is the biggest for me, and it continues to be the place where a lot of purging has to occur constantly. The truth is, a lot of the times we want God's word to manifest for the wrong reasons, "so that others can see, or that we finally get vindicated or authenticated or seen as powerful believers". Or better yet, because we are jealous, have been disappointed to think a certain way and believe and act like men and women before us.

Myths or Moments

by delay and want others to feel the same. We desire the prophetic gifts and prophecy, not because we are committed to co-labouring with God to establish His will, but so that our egos get a bit of a stroke and so we get to at least see our tables being laid in the presence of our enemies or frenemies!

The reality is, with prophecy comes work. Purging. Testing. Stretching. And my not so favourite part (but rewarding)— a greater dimension of sacrifice and higher call to not only serve, but to do so with love, diligence and excellence. The kind that is akin to the requirements and demands made on people in the bible. Have you taken a look at the specifics of how the ark built by Noah was to be constructed? Or better yet, the specifications that related to the temple Solomon built in 1 Kings 6? Just a snippet from the passage reads

“The temple that King Solomon built for the Lord was sixty cubits long, twenty wide and thirty high. 3The portico at the front of the main hall of the temple extended the width of the temple, that is twenty cubits, and projected ten cubits from the front of the temple. 4He made narrow windows high up in the temple walls. 5Against the walls of the main hall and inner sanctuary he built a structure around the building, in which there were side rooms. 6The lowest floor was five cubits wide, the middle floor six cubits and the third floor seven. He made offset ledges around the outside of the temple so that nothing would be inserted into the temple walls.

7In building the temple, only blocks dressed at the quarry were used, and no hammer, chisel or any other iron tool was heard at the temple site while it was being built.

8The entrance to the lowest floor was on the south side of the temple; a stairway led up to the middle level and from there to the third. 9So he built the temple and completed it, roofing it with beams and cedar planks. 10And he built the side rooms all along the temple. The height of each was five cubits, and they were attached to the temple by beams of cedar”

At times I have thought to myself, really God? But the older I get the more I realise that it's not just about the product, the process is just as important. It is in the specifics and attentiveness to His details that we grow.

As I wrap up I'd like to share this. Many of us make the mistake of turning the means of communication into God or making that the priority. Our focus should be on God and seeking first His kingdom. The day I learnt from prophetic school that God is always speaking but we are not accustomed to His ways of speaking, things changed for me. I am now more attentive to my environment and surroundings (still growing). I've also chosen to get intentional about searching for myself in scripture and getting to learn more about how God dialogues and engages with His people.

Don't let culture and religion box God for you. Neither should you become familiar with certain things because in this, it becomes much easier to miss the voice of God, His directions and above all, His heart!
